The nonlinear Ricci tensor equation is given by $Ric_q = \frac{R_{ab}}{g^{ab}}$ where q is a scalar, and R_{ab} is the Ricci tensor of a 4-metric g_{ab} . How to define the Riemann curvature tensor for the higher order metric g_{ab} ? The Ricci curvature equation will give $R_{ab} = R_{bc} g^{ac} + R_{ac} g^{bc} + R_{cb} g^{ac} + R_{bc} g^{cd} g_{de} g^{ec}$ and the Riemann curvature tensor for the higher order metric g_{ab} is defined as $R_{abc} = \frac{\partial \Gamma^d_{ab}}{\partial x^c} - \frac{\partial \Gamma^d_{ac}}{\partial x^b} + \Gamma^e_{ab} \Gamma^d_{ce} - \Gamma^e_{ac} \Gamma^d_{be}$ where Γ^d_{bc} are the Christoffel symbols. So how does one define the Riemann curvature tensor for g_{ab} ? A: Let's assume you are working in some manifold M . The Christoffel symbols for a smooth Riemannian metric on M are Γ^d_{bc} , and you can calculate the Riemann curvature of g_{ab} by them, i.e. by the relation $R_{abc} = \frac{\partial \Gamma^d_{ab}}{\partial x^c} - \frac{\partial \Gamma^d_{ac}}{\partial x^b} -$

What's new in Fate EXTELLA - Mecha Lady Medusa:

Community Engagement: Presentations & Model Development Work to develop near-term goals is continuing into 2009, with a presentation to the State's Quality of Life Committee on March 30, 2009, followed by a meeting with a stakeholder group to discuss issues related to private development. At the March 30 meeting, representatives of planning staff and various cultural institutions presented the next steps in planning for the La Quinta development planned by Pacific Coast Communities in the Coachella Valley. (Pacific Coast Community is the applicant for the district project.) The meeting was held just after a retreat held for the volunteer board of the Friends of La Quinta with a main objective of developing a vision for the town of La Quinta. While Pacific Coast Communities is proposing a master-planned community, the La Quinta Master Plan is meant to set the direction for La Quinta as it moves through the adoption process. La Quinta is a small, rural community that is now on the doorstep of an urban and suburban region. The town started as a sand mining and ranching hub. Quicksilver Water Company continues to be a major employer. Residential housing and related services are now emerging in La Quinta, with a new subdivision being built off the Desert Sands Highway. Developing the master plan requires a process of citizen engagement. Friends of La Quinta has a website at lbq.com/learnmore that includes an interactive map that identifies key issues and programs. The Friends of La Quinta board, made up of community residents, will take the information to the Board of Supervisors and the Planning Commission and developmentally work on implementing the plan. A clear and compelling vision for La Quinta will be critical for the project in securing funding sources. In terms of this message board, you are all invited to participate. Email or call me at 928-494-2732 for more information. Teresa Rovolo, LBQ PR Community engagement and outreach What Pacific Coast Communities is proposing is a master-planned community, which allows for private residential development. We have submitted a Preliminary General Plan that will identify areas for residential development and are now developing a Master Plan that takes into consideration the current land use and future growth projections. In developing this Master Plan, it is important that the community has input. Therefore, at the next meeting of the State's Quality of Life Committee, we will present our proposed plan, or "vision" for La Quinta
